

Pro-gard Products™ now offers two new vehicle partitions for the 2006 Dodge Charger and the 2006 Chevy Impala. The new partitions are secured between the vehicles' b-pillars for maximum space and protection. The new simplified installation process does not require the seat bolts to be recalibrated. Our new design allows the front passenger seat full movement and a reasonable recline. The sturdy design is mounted to the b-pillar with heavy-duty brackets that are concealed behind the b-pillar covers, offering a fast, easy and clean installation.

The new partitions are also designed with a removable center panel. An optional recessed panel kit will give the officer more storage space or allow for installation of vertical mounted gun racks between the seats. The new recessed panel is designed for easier installation. Simply unbolt the center panel and bolt on the new recessed panel kit. This kit can be ordered with the partition or added on at a later time.
